High Court halts investigation against JPN Padda

The High Court of Rajasthan on Monday in a scathing attack, Prime Minister Narendra Modi's National Party in Rajasthan, said it was "entitled to broaden their trade agreements with Ministers and帶". The court issued an interim order to halt the investigation.

The petition, filed by the BJP leader, alleged that the party's investigation into the case was not justified and that it was based on fabricated evidence. It also complained about the lack of due process and the violation of basic human rights.

The court ordered the state government to withdraw the FIR against Padda and directed the police to investigate the matter afresh. It also directed the state government to provide protection to Padda and his family.

The petition alleged that the investigation was politically motivated and was aimed at suppressing the party's voice in the state. It also complained about the arbitrary detention of party workers and the violation of their fundamental rights.

The court observed that the investigation was not only illegal but also unconstitutional. It directed the state government to withdraw the FIR and to provide protection to the petitioner.

The court also directed the state government to ensure that the petitioner was not subjected to any form of harassment or intimidation.

The petition concluded by saying that the investigation was a clear case of political persecution and that it was aimed at suppressing the party's voice in the state.

The petition was filed by the BJP leader, Purnima Chaturvedi, who is also a member of the State Legislative Council.

The petition was filed on behalf of the petitioner, Purnima Chaturvedi, by her counsel, Advocate A.K. Agarwal.

AMARNATH YATRA RESUMES FROM PANCHMARHI
(PTI): The Amarnath yatra was resumed from Panchmarhi on Sunday after remaining suspended for three days due to intermittent rainfall and thunderstorms in Kashmir, officials said.

As soon as the skies cleared on Sunday, two buses carrying the authorities opened the gates and allowed the yatris to move towards the holy shrine at south Kashmir’s Holy Mata.

The move, they said, was aimed at restoring normalcy and ensuring the yatris, who were stranded due to heavy rainfall in the valley, are able to reach the holy site.

FORCING PILLIWS
BJP CHIEF NARDA CHAIRS REGIONAL CONSULTATIVE MEETING

The Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) President J P Nadda on Sunday presided over meeting of BJP presidents of 12 states today in Hyderabad.

"We are a key ally of the UDF, and since no UDF member has been invited to its seminar by the CPI(M), we cannot participate in it. The Indian National Congress (INC), the only party that can take on the CPI(M), may also not participate in it," said a senior CPI(M) leader who did not wish to be named.

CPI(M) chief Sitaram Yechury had earlier said that the party would not participate in any consultation or discussion on the CAA and the NRC issue.

“Since the CPM is not participating in the UDF, it is not possible to discuss with them," Yechury had said.

The CPM has been a key ally of the UDF, which is a coalition of regional parties from the southern states and other parts of the country.

The BJP has been trying to bring the CPM onside and has written to it in each state. Subsequently, it has sent teams to discuss the issue, and every party or organisation has been invited to participate in the seminar.

The CPM has so far not responded to the invitation, and the party chief has not spoken about the UCC. The party has a different approach and has been supportive of the government’s initiatives towards Kashmir.

The party has also been critical of the government’s handling of the CAA and the NRC issue.

The recent visit of Jack Ma to Beijing has raised hopes that China and India, two rival global nations to compete in the world, are looking for a new path to work things out between them.

Last week the U.S. government announced it was going to look more seriously at how India’s leaders have made the trip to the Chinese capital. The visit was a sign that it was time for U.S.-China ties, which were at their lowest point for decades, to be put back on the right track.

The comments, which were made by President Xi Jinping during his recent visit to India, were seen as a clear sign that the two countries were ready to work together to resolve their differences.

For the first time in recent years, the two countries have shown a willingness to engage in a dialogue. The visit was seen as a step towards improving relations between the two nations.

The comments were seen as a positive signal that both countries were ready to work together to resolve their differences. The visit was seen as a step towards improving relations between the two nations.

WHY IS FRANCE BURNING SO BADLY?

Those who were granted asylum on French soil in the name of human rights became enemies out of the important culture, excellent and wonderful literature, is artistry, amazing artworks. France has been known as the 'Art Capital of the World.' For the French people, this city is recognized as a cultural city. It is known for its museums, opera, theater, art gallery, wonderful artworks, and Berthelot's Law which says that the number of crimes committed by a certain group of people is directly proportional to the number of prisoners in the prison. Therefore, I feel that people of all ages must be protected from such perils and atrocities. Some of the reasons for the custodial deaths are:

1. Arrested individuals are not properly searched before being sent to the police custody. Each and every custodial death is a matter of national concern and it is imperative that a proper investigation is carried out in order to ascertain the cause of death. The investigation should be thorough and it should look into the circumstances that led to the custodial death. The custodial death is a matter of public interest and it is necessary to ensure that the investigating agency is impartial and unbiased.

Why earthquakes happen all the time in Britain but not in Ireland

The village of Tran in Staffordshire, England, was hit by a 3.3 magnitude earthquake on June 30, 2021. The tremors caused windows and doors to rattle in the surrounding area. Earthquakes of this nature are not uncommon in Britain (the island including England, Scotland, and Wales). In fact, hundreds of earthquakes shake British every year.

Scientists estimate that the largest possible earthquake in Britain is around magnitude 6.5–8, surpassing the intensity of magnitude 6.3 earthquake that hit Chisinau, the capital of Moldova, in 1990. The earthquakes are not uncommon in Britain and Ireland, as hundreds of powerful earthquakes have occurred around the perimeter of the Pacific Ocean— an area known as the Pacific Ring of Fire. However, there are notable differences between the two regions:

- Britain:
  - Earthquakes are more frequent, occurring on average every two years.
  - The largest earthquake in Britain was a magnitude 5.5 event that struck the Cheltenham area in 1990.
  - The heat from the Earth's core, which is 5,100–6,700°C, is not sufficient to melt the crust in Britain, making it less prone to earthquakes.

- Ireland:
  - Earthquakes are less frequent, with the last significant event in 1886.
  - The largest earthquake in Ireland was a magnitude 5.6 event that struck County Sligo in 1812.
  - The heat from the Earth's core, which is 5,100–6,700°C, is sufficient to melt the crust in Ireland, making it more prone to earthquakes.

Sri Lanka seeks missing artefacts linked to last year's protest

The recent visit of Janet Yellen to Beijing has triggered hopes that it may pave the way for two real global nations to come together for economic reasons, and expectations are high in favor of both nations.

Last week the U.S. Treasury Secretary Janet Yellen went on a four-day diplomatic trip to China, which many economists the United States are expected to cooperate more, competing interests may make a significant deal for both - and downright hostile at worst. But that is how the Chinese government and media, both, have responded the visit.

In contrast to the earlier visits of U.S. Secretary of State Antony Blinken flying to China for bilateral talks - months after his February trip was cancelled due to evidence of Chinese balloon spying - and his former Chinese President Xi Jinping’s visit to the United States last year, where they discussed international debt relief and economic cooperation, Xi Jinping’s visit to the United States this week was played-up rather kindly by the Chinese media.

Vilma is a former actress in China's television industry who this week made a dramatic return to the Chinese screen, with Chinese media reports suggesting that she could be a possible successor to Xi Jinping.

The visit is a first-ever visit by a U.S. President to Beijing since the United States. The visit comes just a month after the United States' sanctions were imposed on Chinese officials and companies for alleged human rights abuses in Xinjiang.

Still, Yellen hopes to strengthen the relationship with China by stressing cooperation and common interests. She will discuss economic cooperation and the need to work together to address global challenges such as climate change and the COVID-19 pandemic.

During the visit, Yellen and Chinese officials will discuss topics such as climate change, digital currency, and economic cooperation. The visit is expected to be productive and will be seen as a positive step towards improving relations with China.

Lalrinnunga suffers a back injury in May and has been out of action since then, which means he missed the national championships, likely to be held early next year. The reigning Commonwealth Games champion will have another chance to qualify for his fourth Olympic Games in Paris 2024. The 32-year-old has had a long and successful career in athletics, having won several medals in international competitions. He is looking ahead to his clash with the Army Sports Institute's Karthik, a promising young talent in the sport.

In a statement, Lalrinnunga said: “I have not been able to completely recover from my injury and I am still recovering. I am looking forward to making a comeback to the national camp and working hard to get back to my best form.”

Lalrinnunga first won a silver medal at the 2010 Commonwealth Games in Delhi, and has since added three more medals to his collection, including a gold at the 2014 Games in Glasgow and a silver at the 2018 Commonwealth Games in Gold Coast. He is considered one of the top lifters in the world and is aiming to make a strong showing at the upcoming Olympics.

Lalrinnunga's success has been attributed to his hard work and dedication to the sport, as well as the support and guidance he has received from his coaches and family. He is looking forward to the challenges ahead and is determined to make the most of the opportunities that come his way.

Matteo Berrettini advanced to his second quarterfinal in 13 months after seeing a 3-1 lead turned into a 6-7, 7-6(4), 7-6(0) defeat in the UEFA Euro Final. The Italian defeated Zebyre by 6-7, 6-4, 6-5 in a thrilling battle that lasted almost two and a half hours. Coqing to Priyank, Matter had played just one match in 2017 and then suffered from a stomach injury. But he had bulked up and had balled his form. "It must be something special for how I play. It's how I play," he added. Matteo's devastating run of form continued as he beat Alexander Zverev. The German's hopes of securing a win in the final were shattered as he was forced to battle it out in the fourth round of the tournament. Matteo, taken by surprise, couldn't produce his usual performance and was outplayed by the match-winner. Overall, good performance, but I'm happy with my performance. Two Olympic titles, a Wimbledon, two US Open titles, four Masters titles, and now the Euros. I've been in a good moment this year. I'm looking forward to his clash with the Army Sports Institute's Karthik, a promising young talent in the sport.

In a statement, Matteo said: “I have not been able to completely recover from my injury and I am still recovering. I am looking forward to making a comeback to the national camp and working hard to get back to my best form.”

In the final, he faced Aljaz Bedene, who was also looking ahead to his clash with the Army Sports Institute's Karthik, a promising young talent in the sport.

Pakistan's strategic diplomacy: A game plan to challenge India's dominance in cricket

Pakistan's strategic diplomacy aims to challenge India's dominance in cricket. The plan involves various tactics, including the use of diplomatic relations and sports diplomacy to strengthen Pakistan's position in the global cricketing landscape.

In recent years, Pakistan has made significant strides in improving its cricketing infrastructure and performance. The country has invested heavily in developing its domestic cricket scene and nurturing young talent. Pakistan cricket has also undergone a transformation, with the introduction of new coaching and administration models.

Moreover, Pakistan has employed a multi-faceted approach to challenge India's dominance. The team has strengthened its bowling and fielding departments, with the appointment of experienced coaches and the selection of talented players. Pakistan has also improved its batting, with the emergence of young batsmen who possess a strong batting template.

In addition, Pakistan has sought to leverage its strategic alliances and partnerships with other cricketing nations. The country has engaged in various bilateral and multi-lateral cricketing events, strengthening its diplomatic credentials and enhancing its cricketing standing.

However, India remains a formidable force in cricket, with its rich history and strong domestic cricket scene. Pakistan's strategic diplomacy faces significant challenges, particularly in the face of India's well-established cricketing institutions and the support it receives from the Indian cricket fans.

Despite the hurdles, Pakistan continues to strive for progress and improvement. The team remains committed to challenging India's dominance and establishing itself as a strong contender in the global cricketing landscape.

Australia's Travis Head reaches a milestone

Australia's Travis Head reached a milestone in the ongoing Test series against England. The batsman scored his 15th Test century, surpassing the 100-run mark. Head's performance not only showcased his skill and experience but also set a strong foundation for Australia's batting line-up.

The left-handed opener scored a solid 150 runs against England, demonstrating his prowess in the longest format of the game. Head's contribution was instrumental in setting up a strong platform for Australia's innings, which eventually resulted in an innings victory over England.

The milestone was a testament to Head's consistent performances in international cricket. The batsman has consistently produced match-winning innings, solidifying his reputation as one of Australia's most reliable batsmen in Test cricket.

Head's achievement not only bolstered Australia's batting but also provided a much-needed boost to the team's morale. The victory against England, coupled with Head's century, served as a strong reminder of Australia's dominance in the series and their ability to compete at the highest level in international cricket.

Although Head's achievement was a momentous occasion, the team's focus remains on the ongoing series against England. The Test series is a crucial opportunity for Australia to assert its authority and establish a strong foothold in the cricketing landscape.

In conclusion, Australia's Travis Head's milestone against England was a significant moment in the series. The batsman's performance demonstrated his skill, experience, and determination, setting the stage for a compelling contest between the two cricketing giants.
