The Supreme Court judge suggested a move for Congress leader Rahul Gandhi to step down.

The event was graced by the presence of Chief Justice of India (CJI) DY Chandrachud and Union Law Minister Arjun Ram Meghwal who shared his views on enhancing transparency and efficiency in justice delivery systems. To the discussion was the em- powerment of technology in facilitating court proceedings, a move reinforced by the Supreme Court’s recent intervention into the Judicial Digital Data Grid (J-DDG) Committee.

The CJI Chairman em- phasised his commitment to elevate the process of judicial appointments by leveraging a more robust and transparent platform for potential candidates. This initiative aims to foster a transparent and data-driven approach to ap- pointments, away from criticism of a lack of transparency in the judicial appointment process. A centre dedicated to research and planning aims to enhance the judgments and performances of the Supreme Court judges in the country.

The Minister observed the efforts of judiciary, sharing his pride in the Su- preme Court’s recent intervention into the J-DDG Committee.

The CJI chairman said that he and the Ministry of Law and Justice have been working closely to ensure that the recommendations of the National Judicial Data Grid (J-DDG) Committee are implemented.

The meeting is a step towards improving the efficiency of the judiciary, and it is expected to set a positive example for other institutions as well.

The CJI chairman also emphasised the need for a transparent and fair judicial system, which is the cornerstone of any democratic society.

The Prime Minister, in his speech, highlighted the importance of judicial independence and the need for a transparent judicial system.

He urged all members of the judiciary to work towards this goal and ensure that justice is delivered efficiently and fairly.

The Prime Minister also thanked the judiciary for their efforts towards maintaining the rule of law and ensuring the delivery of justice.

He concluded his speech by reiterating his commitment to supporting the judiciary in all possible ways and urged all members of the judiciary to continue their efforts towards ensuring the delivery of justice in an efficient and transparent manner.

The Enforcement Directorate (ED) on 15 September filed multiple cases against a businessman Sitansh Prasad, an associate of Shri Nikhil (UIP) MP Sanjay Raut, in connection with alleged irregularities in Covid-19 ‘jumbo centres’ in Mumbai. The chargesheet goes beyond the details contained in the records of multiple summonses issued to the businessman, who was present in Mumbai last week.

The chargesheet charges the businessman Prasad, owner of the Sai Enterprises group, with a host of alleged irregularities in connection with the alleged procurement of jumbo centres for Mumbai during the pandemic. The chargesheet also claims that the businessman alone, while the ED has named several others in the case, was involved in the alleged procurement of jumbo centres to be used as quarantine facilities in the city.

The ED has so far named 25 individuals in the case, but the chargesheet only mentions Prasad in detail. The other names mentioned are mostly associates of the businessman and likely linked to the procurement of the centres.

The ED has named Prasad in connection with a case related to the purchase of 200 jumbo centres for Mumbai during the pandemic. The businessman is accused of being involved in the alleged procurement of these centres at inflated prices.

The chargesheet mentions that Prasad is accused of having undertaken the procurement of jumbo centres at a cost of Rs 1.25 lakh per unit, while the actual cost was much lower. The businessman is accused of having profited from the alleged irregularities in the procurement process.

The ED has named Prasad in connection with several other cases related to alleged irregularities in the procurement of jumbo centres. The businessman is accused of having directed the officials of the state government to purchase the centres at inflated prices.

Rahul Navin appointed as in-charge Director of Enforcement Directorate

EyEs on 5 statEs, CWC sEt to mEEt in tElangana tomorroW

The special director of the Enforcement Director (ED) has been appointed as in-chief Dis- rector of the appoint- ment of a regular Director or until further orders. Notably, will be required to resign upon whose tenure was extended for one year on Tuesday.

“President has decided to extend the tenure of Sanjay Kumar Mishra as the Director of Enforcement (ED) for another year,” the official stated.

The ED is scheduled to complete its term on September 15.

Navin will also meet with state chief ministers and discuss strategies for the upcoming elections. The Telangana election will serve as a crucial juncture, as he faces persistent attacks from the BJP in the run-up to the 2024 Lok Sabha elections.

Gandhi’s party is expected to support the BJP and their ideology. Exuding confidence in the party’s performance, Union Health Minister Mansukh Mandaviya said, “PM Vishwakarma” represents a significant stride towards preserving India’s cultural heritage, empowering communities, and meeting the rich tradition of India’s ‘Guru-Shishya’ lineage. Through the initiative, the government will support the growth of traditional crafts and ensure the sustainability of ancient knowledge and traditions.

Speaking at the occasion, Union Health Minis- ter Mandaviya lauded Sanjay Kumar Mishra and the three members of the Enforcement Directorate (EWC) who supported the “Anna Bhagya” campaign.

Annual Union Health Minister Mandaviya promised that the “PM Vishwakarma” scheme will offer a toolkit incentive of Rs 6,000 and the “PM Vishwakarma” app within two days at the state level. The scheme seeks to enhance the accessibility and availability of healthcare services in rural, semi-urban, and urban areas across India. With this development, the government aims to support the rural community and panchayats in the last mile of India.

The government is committed to supporting traditional crafts and ensuring their continued growth. The initiative embodies the government’s commitment to nurturing the ‘Guru-Shishya’ lineage and preserving ancient knowledge.

The program was launched with a focus on rural and semi-urban areas across India, aiming to support the sustainability of traditional crafts and ensure the accessibility and availability of healthcare services to rural communities.
MARKING the 80 years of the Kesa- vananda Bharati case also known as the basic structure doctrine case, noted jurists reiterated the significance and continued relevance of the doctrine which states that the power of Parliament to amend the Constitution is not unlimited and no amendment can be allowed to change the Constitution's basic structure.

"The Centenary Ram Jeth- malani Memorial Lecture", hosted here on Friday by the Sunday Guardian Foundation and noted lawyer Mah- book Jethmalani to mark the birth centenary year of the doyen of participatory democracy, event also saw the best of the constitution experts in paying respect to Jethmalani. The speakers included former Advocate-General Adho- nais Fakih, former CJI Dipak Misra, former CJI Dipak Misra; Editor, Tughlak, S. Gurumurthy; and senior advocate Syed Dean.

Niranjan said that the doctrine has served the nation well over the past 80 years. "In seven reported cases, the challenged provi- sions have been struck down by the Supreme Court of India by invoking the ba- sic structure doctrine. So it is imposible to generalise. You can look at any particu- lar case and criticise it. In the reported cases, the challenge on basic structure doctrine has been repelled and reject- ed. So you can say a majority of the constitutional amend- ments have been upheld by the Supreme Court."

ADDRESSING OVERCROWDING IN MENTAL HEALTH INDIAN PRISONS

PYALI CHATTERJEE

OPINION

Mental health is integral to overall health. The right to life under Article 21 of the Indian Constitution has been found to be violated due to the overcrowding in prisons. The petitioner highlighted the violation of prisoners' rights to life, liberty, and security of person, which are fundamental to overall health. The Indian Penal Code (IPC) and the Indian Criminal Procedure Code (CrPC) have provisions for the protection of prisoners' rights and the maintenance of proper conditions of imprisonment.

Overcrowding in Indian prisons has also increased over time. This has led to the emergence of online mediation platforms, as well as the need for innovation in the correctional system. In 1997, the Supreme Court emphasized the importance of creating a model prison system based on human rights principles.

In recent years, the Indian Parliament has passed the Mental Health Act, 2017, which aims to provide comprehensive and tailored solutions to address mental health issues in prisons. The Act mandates the establishment of mental health boards in each state to monitor and provide care to prisoners with mental disorders.

The Act also provides for the appointment of mental health professionals and the availability of specialized healthcare facilities in prisons. The Act emphasizes the importance of creating a culture of open communication and mutual fostering, which is crucial for the rehabilitation of prisoners. The principles of fairness, justice, and accountability are central to the Act, which seeks to redefining how disputes are resolved and ensuring the integrity and credibility of the correctional system.

Mental Health Act 2017: Key Provisions

- Establishment of mental health boards in each state
- Appointment of mental health professionals
- Availability of specialized healthcare facilities
- Principles of fairness, justice, and accountability
- Reforms in conflict resolution and accountability
The Pakistan Bar Council (PBC) has extended an invitation to lawyers from India for a friendly Cricket Match in Karachi and Rawalpindi, a move that will contribute to the promotion of friendly relations between the two countries. This initiative is expected to provide an opportunity for lawyers from both sides to share insights and experiences, fostering a better understanding of the legal systems in India and Pakistan.

Moreover, a petition was presented in the Delhi High Court regarding the unlawful interception of communications concerning ongoing rape cases. The petition, filed by Deepak Balutia, a resident of Haldwani, highlighted the importance of ensuring the confidentiality of such information to protect the rights of the accused and the victim. The court had granted him ex-parte orders in the matter, and the matter is scheduled for hearing on October 17, 2023.

The Ministry of Home Affairs has also announced that the Delhi High Court ordered the Central Information Commission to direct the Union Public Service Commission to issue electronic surveillance interception (EveS) services while dealing with the petition. The court had granted him relief for 8 civil services aspirants due to an error in the admit cards, and the electronic surveil- lances were ordered to be continued as a party to the PIL.

The Pakistan Bar Council has invited Indian lawyers to participate in a friendly Cricket Match in Karachi and Rawalpindi, as a step that will contribute to the promotion of friendly relations between the two countries. This initiative is expected to provide an opportunity for lawyers from both sides to share insights and experiences, fostering a better understanding of the legal systems in India and Pakistan. The petitioner, Apar Gupta, co-founder and executive director of the Indian Freedom Foundation, said that the statement made in the petition was not made in good faith, and the consultation was done in a casual and routine manner. Therefore, while dealing with the petition, stated that the petition was not required to analyze the documents related to state-sponsored funding (IFF), which had filed RTI applications seeking details on the interception of communications, had filed petitions in the Delhi High Court for electronic surveillance interception (EveS) services while dealing with the petition. The court had granted him relief for 8 civil services aspirants due to an error in the admit cards, and the electronic surveil- lances were ordered to be continued as a party to the PIL.
The National Investigation Agency (NIA) has submitted an application to the Delhi High Court, stating that it has concluded the process of recording statements of all witnesses. The NIA has recorded the statements of 800 witnesses so far, and 323 more are required before the investigation can be completed. Throughout the trial, the NIA recorded statements of 323 witnesses, and today, they recorded the statements of 30 witnesses. The case involves the Malegaon blast, which occurred on September 29, 2008, in the town of Malegaon in the state of Maharashtra, India.

The NIA is investigating the Malegaon blast, which killed 24 people and injured more than 200. The NIA has arrested 11 people so far in connection with the blast, and has charged them under various sections of the Indian Penal Code (IPC), which includes sections 302 (murder), 307 (attempt to murder), and 120B/139 (criminal conspiracy).

BAMBI BAIJERI MAJI - THE TRANSFORMATION OF AN ORDINARY MAN

A man’s inner world is the inspiration for a new series titled "Amazin minis," which follows the journey of a cancer survivor through various challenges.

The series is being produced by Reliance Entertainment in partnership with YouTube Originals, and it is set to premiere later this year.

"Amazin minis" is a part of a multi-year creative partnership, which Netflix announced in March, under which the studio will launch a series of original programming on the streaming platform Netflix in India.

"Amazin minis" is one of the projects under this partnership, and it aims to fuel the zeitgeist together, in a kind manner. Many present partnerships or financial gains will suddenly come up. Keep a check on a sudden garnet, we are not referred to as to prevent the charms from vanishing. Mantra: “Release Fears”

THE GUT-IMMUNE CONNECTION IN KIDS: NURTURING A HEALTHY MICROBIOME

How to Teach Today’s Youth About Nutritious Eating

Unhealthy eating is the number one risk factor globally. This chapter tackles the issue of unhealthy eating, which has become a major public health concern. It covers topics such as tobacco use, obesity, heart disease, diabetes, and cancer, among young adults. It offers strategies and tips for parents, educators, and policymakers to help young people make healthier choices.

ESSENTIAL COMPONENTS THAT AFFECT THE GUT-IMMUNE CONNECTION IN KIDS

The gut-immune axis is a complex and bidirectional relationship that plays a vital role in overall health and well-being. This connection helps to regulate responses to pathogens, nutrients, and other factors. In today’s world, millennials are facing many challenges that have an impact on their immune system and microbiome. These challenges include stress, dietary changes, and the use of technology.

In Schools and Colleges

- Enforce hands-on learning. Through cooking classes or workshops, teaching students ways to prepare simple, nutritious meals can improve their health and increase awareness of ways food and nutrition impacts their life.
- Use of social media like Instagram and Facebook and traditional media like newspaper articles and videos to disseminate information on healthy eating, to educate the public, and create a visual appeal for healthy eating and disease prevention.
- Promotes the use of healthy foods, like vegetables, fruits, and whole grains, and reduce consumption of processed foods.
- Teach students about the importance of balanced and healthy eating habits.
- Use of active learning techniques like role-playing, simulations, and games to make learning fun and engaging.
- Create kitchen gardens. Students can participate in planting, growing, and harvesting fruits, vegetables, and whole grains.
- Use of social media like Instagram and Facebook and traditional media like newspaper articles and videos to disseminate information on healthy eating, to educate the public, and create a visual appeal for healthy eating and disease prevention.

MEDIA LITERACY

- Public places like railway stations, schools, and colleges can display posters, digital displays, and audio-visuals to educate students about healthy eating habits.
- Family and community involvement. A healthy family can support healthy eating habits at home. Parents can be guided on how to make healthy choices for their children.
- Nutrition education should be provided at schools and colleges to help students make informed choices about what they eat.

THE GENERATIONAL SHIFT: MILLENNIAL CARRIERS IN THE MODERN ERA

Over the years, women have been subjected to gas lighting and have been desensitized to the conditioning process. Women in positions of power are often seen through the lens of the patriarchy, which has shaped their thoughts and capabilities. News frequently features stories of women rising to the top, but their climbing ladders often do not match their physical existence.

The meaning of the word victory is, to ‘beat an opponent’. Little of world, that means defeating the competition, in the world of sport, it is the pride of the nation, in the games of the championship. Victory is often achieved by ‘winning at all costs’, which may include, cheating, rig- ging results on the word, or even sabotage. That kind of winning is devised of any honour, and it totally reduc- ed on my spiritual journey , I have decided to invoke and chan- nel pure and powerful thought, or we can direct this presence, or we can direct this pure and powerful thought to the hearts and minds of people and the thought turns into a huge magnet draw- ing nurtured and sustained by God’s pure energy. For every thought that helps re- move hot air from our mind, it is imbued with this thought. Then, if something triggers an anger, we will immediately feel like play. The bigger the ego, the more one is incapable of. It is sensible, and we become angry. We must un- derstand the word victory is, to ‘beat an opponent’. If we use the analogy of ‘beat an opponent’. The victORy Of vir Tue characTer word victory is, to expectations, our anger also subsides.

How do we define the meaning of victory? Victory can be defined as a goal achieved through hard work, perseverance, and dedication. However, it is often associated with winning or overcoming something or someone. In many cases, victory is considered as a measure of success or achievement. Victory brings joy to the victor, but it can also bring joy to others who have contributed to the victory.

In today’s world, with the loss of spiritual identity, the meaning of victory has changed. Victory is no longer defined as a physical or material achievement. Instead, it is often associated with inner growth, spiritual development, and the overcoming of challenges. Victory is a process, not a destination. It involves personal growth, self-improvement, and self-discovery. Victory is a state of being, not a state of doing.

The path of transformation is a journey of self-discovery and personal growth. It involves the transformation of the ego, the ego is an inflated ego makes us rigid and many other emotions. When we reduce our expectations, our anger also subsides. When we start to see things differently, we start to feel differently. When we start to understand that the meaning of victory is not just about winning or losing, but about the journey of transformation. When we start to understand that the meaning of victory is not just about winning or losing, but about the journey of transformation.

Victory brings joy to the victor, but it can also bring joy to others who have contributed to the victory. Victory is a process, not a destination. It involves personal growth, self-improvement, and self-discovery. Victory is a state of being, not a state of doing. Victory is the result of a transformation process that involves the development of a positive mindset and the cultivation of virtues such as kindness, compassion, and forgiveness. Victory is not just about winning, but about the journey of self-discovery and personal growth.

Whenever we reduce our expectations, our anger also subsides. When we start to see things differently, we start to feel differently. When we start to understand that the meaning of victory is not just about winning or losing, but about the journey of transformation.
