In a recent meeting with Union Home Minister Amit Shah, senior BJP leader and Rajasthan Chief Minister Ashok Gehlot criticised the Congress-led government on Himachal Pradesh for allegedly allowing the perks of power through laws, regulations, and directives to be thrown overboard and declared an end to the ‘last decade,’ PM Modi said. This year, International Women’s Day was celebrated under the theme ‘Invest in women: Accelerate progress for gender equality’. In another post, PM Modi also appreciated PM AWAS Yojana on ‘X’ home to bring women empowerment, said “Three days after winning the 2019 general election, our government focused on the empowerment of women.” PM Modi also stated in another post on 3rd March that PM Shvet Tendulkar and PM Montri Swati both schemes are empowering women across the country, he added. “Greetings on International Women’s Day! We salute the spirit of courage and resilience of our Nari Shakti.”

Bihar CM Nitish Kumar has said that the PM Narendra Modi government’s decision to increase the age for receipt of eligibility is a major step for women. The source said that the government is also working on the empowerment of women. This is also reflected in the PM’s statement on 3rd March, the source added. The first guarantee said that the government would provide women with the almost all the rights and facilities provided to men, including free access to education, work, health and nutrition, and the empowerment of women in all fields. The second guarantee said that the government would provide women with the same rights and facilities as provided to men, including free access to education, work, health and nutrition, and the empowerment of women in all fields. Congress will contest 16 out of 20 LS seats in Kerala.

In the context of a state election, the remaining seats will be contested by the ruling Left Democratic Front (LDF) and the opposition United Democratic Alliance (UDA).

The LDF, which has been in power for the past four years, is led by the Communist Party of India (Marxist) and is expected to face stiff competition from the UDA, which is headed by the United Socialist of India (USFI)

Congress recently announced its candidate list for the upcoming election, which includes several high-profile figures from the party's leadership. The list is expected to be finalized in the next few weeks.

The LDF, on the other hand, is expected to field candidates from its allies, including the Communist Party of India (CPI) and the Indian National Trade Union Congress (INTUC).

The election will be held in four phases, with the first phase scheduled for April 16 and the last phase on May 12. The results are expected to be announced on May 16.

The election is being held on the backdrop of a national wave, with the Union government facing criticism over its handling of the COVID-19 pandemic and its ongoing economic policies.

The Congress and other parties are hopeful of dusting off the memory of a defeat in the last assembly election and are looking to regain power in the state.
India has been bestowed with the prestigious 'Measles and Rubella Champion' award by the Modi and Bhujwadi Partnership at the Bharat Mandapam venue in the National Capital. The award was received on March 18, 2023, by Dr. Champa Sindhwani, a member of the Indian Medical Association, who represented the Indian government.

The Prime Minister, Shri Narendra Modi, while addressing the audience, said, "This award is a testament to the hard work and dedication of the healthcare professionals who worked tirelessly to deliver the Indian population from the scourge of measles, mumps, and rubella. It is a proud moment for all of us to see India being recognized for its efforts in eradicating these diseases and ensuring that no child is left behind in this noble endeavor."

The Measles and Rubella Champion award is part of the ongoing efforts to achieve the global elimination of measles and rubella. India has made significant progress in this regard, with over 90% of children aged 1 year and older vaccinated against measles and rubella. The country has also achieved the goal of providing free LPG refills across the country under the Pradhan Mantri Ujjwala Yojana program.

The award ceremony was attended by the Prime Minister, the Minister of Health and Family Welfare, and other dignitaries. The event was also supported by various international organizations, including the World Health Organization (WHO) and the United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF).

"This accolade celebrates India's environmental sustainability, education, and impact across domains, including digital connectivity, health and well-being, economic well-being, and social change advocacy. It is a true testament to the progress India has made in the field of public health and the commitment of its leaders to ensure that every child has a chance to lead a healthy and productive life," said Dr. Champa Sindhwani, while accepting the award.
The city of Varanasi, known as Kashi, has been a cultural and religious hub for centuries. It is believed that while the world may end but the Kashi will continue because it is located on Lord Shiva’s Trishul – a symbol of the power of the political areas in which it is located. The Samaj Party (BSP) is considered a stronghold of the Varanasi constituency. Narendra Modi has been actively contributing to the development of the region and is almost a certainty to win this seat for the third time. But this is not just political significance, it’s essential to recognize Narendra Modi’s contributions to the city, making him a formidable face not only in independent India, Modi serves as the Chief Minister of Gujarat for 12 years before becoming the Prime Minister. His strong association with Lord Shiva and his divine presence has always been a pass or fail. Now, let’s take a look at the parliamentarian’s performance in the city of Lord Shiva, with particular attention to the development of the Ganga ghats and the ghatiwal contest from Varanasi South.

HOMEBUYERS FLOCK TO NEW LAUNCHES, PREMIUM HOMES IN VOGUE

A recent survey conducted on the homebuyer sentiment revealed interesting details in the growing real estate market.

Assessing Narendra Modi’s Performance as Varanasi’s MP

Considering the performance of the MP in Parliament, the survey concluded that Narendra Modi received a score of 80% out of 100, reflecting a strong performance on social media platforms.

The survey results highlight a significant contrast in the demand for homes in the city. To cater to this demand, the real estate developers are offering a wide range of apartment sizes and configurations, including 3BHK units, which are highly preferred by the homebuyers. In addition, the survey revealed that a majority of respondents are looking for homes with three or more bedrooms, indicating a growing preference for larger family living spaces.

The current landscape of the real estate market in Varanasi is witnessing a surge in new launches and premium homes. This trend is driven by the increasing demand for high-quality living spaces, coupled with the city’s rich cultural heritage, which attracts both local and international buyers.

The survey conducted by India News, a leading media outlet, further emphasizes the preference for 3BHK units among homebuyers. It reveals that a substantial majority of respondents expressed a preference for homes with three or more bedrooms, underlining the city’s growing demand for spacious living options.

The survey findings suggest a strong trend towards premium homes, with a significant increase in the demand for 3BHK units in the city. This trend is supported by the city’s growing population and the rising income levels among the residents, driving the demand for luxury properties.

The survey also highlights the importance of social media platforms in shaping the homebuyer sentiment. A majority of respondents listed their social media preferences, including Facebook, Instagram, and Twitter, indicating their active engagement with the real estate industry and their desire for instant updates on new launches and offers.

The survey findings underscore the growing importance of social media platforms in influencing homebuyer decisions. Developers are increasingly leveraging these platforms to reach out to prospective buyers, offering them a platform to stay informed about the latest property developments and promotions.

Considering the survey’s findings, it is evident that real estate developers in Varanasi are strategically positioning themselves on social media platforms to cater to the evolving preferences of the homebuyers. The growing demand for premium homes, coupled with the city’s rich cultural heritage, presents a lucrative opportunity for real estate developers to capitalize on the market trends and offer homes that align with the preferences of the modern homebuyer.

In summary, the survey results provide valuable insights into the changing dynamics of the real estate market in Varanasi. The findings underscore the growing demand for premium homes, with a significant preference for 3BHK units, and the importance of social media platforms in influencing homebuyer decisions. Real estate developers are encouraged to leverage these trends and platforms to meet the evolving needs of the modern homebuyer. In conclusion, the survey results demonstrate a strong trend towards premium homes, with a significant preference for 3BHK units, and the importance of social media platforms in influencing homebuyer decisions. Real estate developers are encouraged to leverage these trends and platforms to meet the evolving needs of the modern homebuyer.
The federal agency then raided Pranavna Roy's too luxurious bungalow at New Town, Ideal Villas in West Bengal. Roy had been raided by the CBI earlier in the case. It was later revealed by the CBI that the raids were part of an ongoing investigation into the money laundering case.

The raids coincided with Elon Musk's visit to New Delhi, where he met with Indian Prime Minister Narendra Modi. Musk had previously expressed interest in building a SpaceX satellite launch facility in India.

In another development, the FRAI (Federal Roadside Assistance) announced plans to expand its network across the country, with a focus on improving road safety and emergency response times. The announcement was made during a press conference held in New Delhi.

Meanwhile, in the political arena, the Congress Party and the NCP (Nationalist Congress Party) continued to spar over the future of the alliance in Maharashtra. The two parties have been tussling over the control of key state departments, with the Congress Party seeking to expand its influence in the state. The situation is expected to remain tense until the issue is resolved.

In the economic sector, the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) announced a series of measures to support中小企业的 growth, including interest rate cuts and increased lending. These measures are aimed at boosting the country's economic growth, which had slowed down in recent months.

In the international arena, India's foreign policy will be a key issue as the country prepares to host the upcoming G20 summit in November. The summit will bring together leaders from around the world to discuss important issues such as climate change, trade, and security.

In summary, India is facing a number of significant challenges in the coming months, with the future of the economy, politics, and international relations all under close scrutiny.
The UNSC reforms and comprehensive model proposed by India

The United Nations Security Council (UNSC) has emerged as the central arena and gauge for assessing the promise and progress of a new multipolar world system. India’s case serves as one of the prime examples of a rising power grappling with the changed rules, norms, and expectations in and around the global system. India’s case also serves as one of the prime examples of an emerging power grappling with the changed rules, norms, and expectations in and around the global system.

India is historically placed to become a global rule maker/shaper. The UNSC reforms and comprehensive model proposed by India is an integral part of India’s foreign policy and strategic vision. India has been a long-time advocate for UN reform, and the UNSC, in particular, has been a primary target of Indian advocacy. India’s pursuit of permanent membership in the UNSC has been a consistent demand since the inception of the UN.

Minister of External Affairs S. Jaishankar's comprehensive model for the Security Council reform calls for permanent members of the current Security Council, which represents 15 countries with veto power, to reduce to 10. India would then have a permanent seat on the Security Council. The new, non-permanent Security Council would consist of 15 members, including some from the Global South, who would rotate annually.

This proposal is in line with India’s long-standing advocacy for reforms that would reflect the changing dynamics of the international system. India has argued that the current Security Council is not representative of the global power structure and that it is time for a new model that better reflects the current distribution of power. India’s model aims to address issues of representational imbalance and to ensure that all countries have a say in global governance.

India’s case for permanent membership in the UNSC is a testament to its growing influence and role in international affairs. The Indian government’s advocacy for reform is rooted in its vision of a more equitable and representative global governance system. India’s stated goal is to contribute to the maintenance of international peace and security, and to promote a rules-based international order.

This comprehensive model for the Security Council reform calls for a significant shift in the current system. The proposal is based on the principle of inclusivity and representation, which is crucial for a body that is tasked with addressing global security issues. India’s case for permanent membership in the UNSC is a testament to its commitment to ensuring a more representative and effective multilateral system.

The problem lies in our thinking and we have very high expectations from women than from men. Women today are helped by multiple tasks both at home and office, times many a women giving a helping hand both at home and office. While a women for a women is higher. Security brains, for calling a woman “superwoman” is there giving a her a compliment but that is only when it is not appreciated. What we fail to see and realize is that the woman may also enjoy the title “superwoman” at the same time we see and acknowledge a “human” and prone to exhaustion and stress like everyone else around her. It is in her time to focus on the remove the tagline “superwoman” from all your humans too.

From ancient roots and growth to the complex system of modern languages, the development of languages is an unfolding narrative of human ingenuity, creativity, and adaptability. The powerful influence of languages is a dynamic process that reflects the essence of cultural evolution, the flow of human communication, and the collective imagination. From primitive and ancient scripts to the intricate linguistic tapestry we witness today, languages encode the essence of human expression, culture, and thought. As civilization unfolds, the continued evolution of language will undeniably shape humanity.

Historically Speaking

Evolution of Languages

The evolution of languages is a fascinating journey that spans millennia, reflecting the intricate interplay of human creativity, innovation, and the vastness of the human experience. Languages are the building blocks of human culture, allowing us to articulate a wider range of sounds, paving the way for the diversity of human thought and expression. The evolution of languages is intricately intertwined with the rise and fall of civilizations, the development of trade, governance, and cultural exchanges. The advent of printing presses, telegraphs, telephones, and the internet further accelerated the globalization of languages. English, for instance, has become a lingua franca due to its role as a tool for global communication and cultural exchange.

Languages of the Ancients

Languages of the Ancients

Languages, such as Sumerian, Egyptian, and Sanskrit, were directly descended from the oldest known scripts to around 3500 BCE. Due to the influence of various Muslim rulers, especially during the Islamic Golden Age, many of the world’s languages were transformed into written scripts, creating a linguistic syncretism. Persian, another ancient language, is the official language of Iran, and is still spoken by about 75 million people. Tamil is also the oldest language in the world. This is partly due to the influence of Tamil language on the Sri Lankan people.

The Development of Oral and Written Communication

The evolution of languages is intricately intertwined with the rise and fall of civilizations. The advent of printing presses, telegraphs, telephone, and the internet further accelerated the globalization of languages. English, for instance, has become a global lingua franca, transcending national borders and serving as a common medium of communication in various fields.

Impact of Foreign Influence

Foreign invasions in India have significantly shaped the development of languages, leading to linguistic and cultural exchanges. Some influential invasions include:

1. Greek Influence: Greek, during the Hellenistic period, became the most spoken language by various Muslim rulers, with special emphasis on the city of Alexandria, because it was spoken in many parts of the world, including Egypt, Greece, and the Roman empire. The influence of Greek is still evident in the vocabulary of many languages.

2. Persian Influence: Persian, the language of the ancient Persians, played a role in shaping the development of languages in the Middle East. While the Persian influence is evident in the vocabulary of many languages, especially in Iran, it has also been assimilated into Hindi and Urdu, creating a linguistic syncretism.

3. Arabic Influence: Arabic, the dominant language of the Islamic world, particularly in regions with a significant Muslim presence. The influence of Arabic is still evident in many languages around the world, especially in the African continent.

4. Turkish and Central Asian Impact: The development of the Turkish language in the Central Asia region, particularly in the formative period of the Ottoman Empire, played a significant role in the shaping of many surrounding languages. Turkish is still widely spoken in various parts of the world, especially in Turkey and the surrounding regions.

Conclusion

The evolution of languages is a fascinating journey that spans millennia, reflecting the intricate interplay of human creativity, innovation, and the vastness of the human experience. Languages are the building blocks of human culture, allowing us to articulate a wider range of sounds, paving the way for the diversity of human thought and expression. A month after Valerii Zaluzhnyi was ousted as the Ukrainian media dubbed the “Iron Man” was dissolved before the autumn 2022 elections and a caretaker government was formed.

Ukraine has not had an ambassador in the UK since President Volodymyr Zelensky dismissed former envoy Valery Pridasly in July 2022 but publicly criticized the leader. Since the beginning of the war, Zaluzhnyi had commanded the Ukrainian army which in the early going proved largely outgunned and outmaneuvered and held an invincible force that was far more formidable.

Notably, Zaluzhnyi’s appointment to the new post came at a time when UK defence Secretary Grant Shapps travelled to Kiev on Monday, promising to strengthen Ukraine’s air defence capabilities and to help it in its battle against the Russian war.

Parineeti Chopra, Raghav Chadha to speak at London School of Economics

Actor Parineeti Chopra and AAP MP Raghav Chadha have been invited for a panel discussion at the London School of Economics. The couple will visit the esteemed university in London this year, where they will remain special guests for Raghav’s love blossom emotionally.

The couple first met at the ICC Young Leaders Forum, where they were felicitated with awards. At one of the media summits, Parineeti shared deep emotions with the media about her relationship with Raghav.

We both were being awarded for our own initiatives — him for politics and me for entertainment. We met at that event and all of us, the organizers, me and him, met for breakfast early morning, on Republic Day, remember. I am going so funny film but you have to believe, I am really speaking the truth.

I sat with him, for half an hour or 40 minutes or whatever time that breakfast was and I just knew. I tell that story like this: I am married to this guy. I had no information about him. I didn’t know what direction he was going to take. I don’t think an individual’s life is written on a piece of paper. The backdrop of rural India. It’s sung by Shreya Ghoshal and composed by Ram Sampath. It’s the story of his life.

The film is set in 2003 in rural India about a couple who you never heard of and who were separated during a train journey and what happens when Krishna, a police officer, takes it upon himself to probe the murkiness of their relationships. The film revolved around two popular Punjabi singers Amar Singh Chadha (played by Pankaj Tripathi) and Parineeti Chopra. While Parineeti Chopra will be portraying the role of Amrit, Diljit will be seen as Krishna, Chahal’s son. On September 15, the first look at “Meri Jaan” was released, promoting a series of five songs by international actor Rishi Kapoor in his acting career, the movie in the women’s day week.

“End of schedule 3.30 PM, Mrs. Chaddha started shooting filming of her third schedule in New Delhi. The film was released in 2023, and the audience received a standing ovation at the festival.

Women are actively breaking down the conventional standards, making strides in every area they are confined to in household roles.

In recent years, the Indian Women's Programme Implementers have observed that 60.3 million Indian women, or around 14% of all women, are involved in entrepreneurial activities. This highlights the importance of supporting women, acknowledging their socioeconomic status as catalysts of innovation, importance and support to these women, especially in their roles, is crucial. Recognizing and celebrating their contributions, regardless of their roles, is crucial. Appreciating their efforts in fostering various aspects of society is also important. Women, with their inherent emotional intelligence, can be valuable assets in addressing societal challenges. Women, benefiting from the dynamics of the work environment, are uniquely positioned to address societal challenges, leveraging AI technology, and providing equitable opportunities for personal and professional growth.

In an increasingly interconnected world, we weave a tapestry of various narratives, backgrounds, and cultures, challenging and refining the perspectives of elders in our society. In honoring the diversity that exists in our community, we foster a sense of unity and promote an inclusive workforce.

We are living in times of widespread suffering. Whether or not we are directly affected, the knowledge of the woes of others is not lost on us. It is in the very fabric of our society that we are learning to be compassionate and caring.

Meditation enables us to keep perspective, control, and our link with God. Labels we are given are simply the roles we play and the tags we are given. True qualities, what does my darker side hold, what meaning of life is to discover the self, and not to express the beauty within, we are not discovering anything. The world can become a righteous world that can support humanity and all beings, a world that is beautiful. It is so simple and yet such a deep doing.

A thought for today
Fear of facing my weaknesses prevents me from being honest with myself. It also prevents me from seeing my strengths. Today let me face my weaknesses so I can also see my strengths.

Maintaining enthusiasm and focus in tough times
At this point, listening to our inner voice and catching the feeling of what we are feeling is a key. Meditation is a way to achieve this.

SILENCE IS A MENTAL TOOL THAT HELPS US BECOME FRESH, ALERT, AND AWARE
Silence is a mental tool that helps you stay fresh, alert, and aware. It helps you overcome inertia, boredom, and staleness. The word enthusiasm originates from the Greek word, “entheos,” to be inspired by God, or divine inspiration.

Rajya Magesh live in Paris, France.

Use the mind’s power to solve your problems
Use the mind to create a world beyond the physical world. We have a triangle or a sacred inner sanctuary. We have to let go of the material world and find our purpose in life. Everything becomes clearer, we begin to feel more connected to each other. The world can support humanity and all living beings. Everything we need is within us. We just need to open our minds and become aware of our own potential, to help others and to serve humanity.

When we create positive thoughts and feelings about an issue, our attitude, atmosphere, emotions, and vibrations change. This is the blending of just three basic musical notes, each containing a different quality.

When creating an idea, we need to think of what is happening, being aware of the connectedness of things. Meditation is a way to achieve this, it helps you become aware of your own potential, to help others and to serve humanity.

India lost five wickets for 97 runs in the final session after Rohit (103) gave India complete control first ball after tea. The home side lost as many as five wickets for 97 runs while Sarfaraz Khan (56 off 60) was guilty of throwing away his wicket before the break.

Today, India is set to play its 100th Test match together after 16 years of playing with New Zealand cricket ever since the 2008 U19 World Cup. It is only fitting that they together address the 2008 U19 World Cup-winning careers together.

The two Blackcaps veterans, who have also played their 100th Test match after 16 years of playing in the 2008 U19 World Cup. Sachin Tendulkar and Tim Southee have been playing for the two teams since 16 years of playing in the 2008 U19 World Cup.

Tendulkar has praised Du Plessis for being a cult leader in the Royal Challengers, showing great commitment during his time as their skipper, making fitness a non-negotiable part of a player's life. "He's driven, he trains hard, he's very fit. I feel in good form because he has looked after himself. He is a great example for the younger generation," Du Plessis said. "He’s a very fit, very strong guy."

India’s coach Ravi Shastri has heaped praise on Kane Williamson and he has also given him the best wishes to the Kiwi players on the occasion.

There are quite a few things we are very similar in, like the fact that we are both passionate about fitness and think about the game. Obviously, you think about fitness more and you can come in to play on the best form, and it’s good to show your commitment to the game, not only for the fitness, but for the fitness and the game as well."
